ABOUT

Brescia University is a Catholic, liberal arts institution founded in the Ursuline tradition of personal and social transformation through education by the Ursuline Sisters of Mount Saint Joseph in 1950. Its origins are in Mount Saint Joseph Junior College for Women, established at Maple Mount, Kentucky in 1925. Between 1925 and 1950, coeducational extension courses in Owensboro led to the creation of a second campus and, after 1949, consolidation of the two campuses at the present site of Brescia University. In 1951, Brescia began operating as a four-year college. Directed to academic and moral excellence in a student-centered environment, Brescia offers undergraduate and graduate programs that serve students who seek success through rewarding careers and service to others.

ONWARD, BRESCIA!

Stepping into Our Second Century

We know that a Brescia education is about more than just preparing people for future jobs; we are also preparing our students to solve problems that we have not even imagined yet. We have no idea what obstacles they will face as they navigate the future, what challenges and problems they will be asked to solve. The current COVID-19 pandemic is a prime example of this. We must be sure that we are providing our students with the education they need to face difficult situations that will call for ingenuity, resilience, and critical thinking.

Last year we launched a three-year $3 million special initiatives fundraising campaign for the University. “Onward, Brescia!: Stepping into our Second Century” supports a variety of targeted initiatives and campus enhancements aimed at recruitment, growth, new programming, and the overall student experience. The campaign coincides with and supports the development of the final five-year strategic plan of Brescia’s first century, and will jump start several key facets of the new plan which help enable us to empower our students to be the creative, resilient and discerning leaders they were created to be.

The initiatives include:

- Enhancing and modernizing our physical and organizational infrastructure
- Identifying and removing unjust, systemic barriers that prevent students from learning and flourishing
- Developing new and enhanced graduate programs, including newly accredited Master’s degrees in Speech-Language Pathology and Clinical Psychology
- Offering mixed enrollment that allows for a hybrid of on ground and online courses that allow students to customize their learning experience to best meet their needs
- Developing a continuing education center to provide life-long learning opportunities for our students and our community
- Developing a women’s leadership institute that will build on the Ursuline legacy of educating women in leadership

These initiatives will be foundational to Brescia as we step into our second century, and will also allow us to do what we have historically done and that is respond to the signs of the times and meet the very specific needs in our greater community through education, partnerships, and collaboration.

None of this is possible, however, without the generosity and support of our Brescia family. I ask you to prayerfully consider making a gift to the Onward, Brescia! campaign to support these special initiatives and to help move Brescia onward. You can mail your gift using the enclosed envelope, or by visiting www.brescia.edu/give. Your gift of any amount will help provide us with the resources to continue to empower our students today to solve the problems of tomorrow.

Thanks to each of you for all you have done and continue to do to make the Brescia Difference.

BRESCIA UNIVERSITY RECEIVES

Reaffirmation of Accreditation

FROM THE SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS COMMISSION ON COLLEGES

Brescia University was reaffirmed in its accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) at its annual meeting in Houston, Texas (December 8-10). SACSCOC is the regional body for the accreditation for degree-granting higher education institutions in the southern states. Regional accreditation is considered the gold standard of all accreditations and guarantees to students, parents, and others that the education that Brescia provides is at the expected quality for a higher education institution. The accreditation came with no findings, no recommendations, and no additional monitoring report required.

Brescia University President, Fr. Larry Hostetter stated, "Every ten years Brescia University goes through an exhaustive review by SACSCOC to guarantee the high quality of the Brescia educational experience. I am deeply grateful to all of the staff and faculty for all of their hard work that led to this very positive outcome of our decennial review. Reaffirmation of accreditation with no additional monitoring report highlights not only the diligence of our people in putting together the required report but also the dedication that they bring to the Brescia Difference every day since we were last reaffirmed. Reaffirmation does not occur in a vacuum but because of the daily commitment of faculty and staff, to the Brescia Difference. Without that commitment, we would not have had such a positive result."

SACSCOC requires all colleges and universities in the southeast to make a case once every decade that they are compliant with all 84 Core Requirements and Standards of the Principles of Accreditation. The process to get reaffirmed starts with a Compliance Certification, a Quality Enhancement Plan, an Off-Site Reaffirmation Review, an On-Site Reaffirmation Review, and finally a Review by the SACSCOC Board of Trustees. The On-Site Reaffirmation Review was held on the University's campus in March of this year. Accreditation is required for students to be eligible for federal and state student aid. It also affects the transferability of credits. Foundations and individuals who offer grants and donations are also interested in the quality of an institution's educational experience.

BRESCIA UNIVERSITY MASTER OF SCIENCE IN

Clinical Psychology

RECEIVES SACSCOC ACCREDITATION

Brescia University's Master of Science in Clinical Psychology received accreditation from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges, or SACSCOC, on May 22, 2020. This accreditation was implemented on August 3rd, 2020 in conjunction with the first classes of the program being available.

Brescia University's Master of Science in Clinical Psychology program is designed to prepare students for various health care services. Direct and supportive services include diagnosis and treatment of emotional and mental anxiety, or addictive disorders that affect the function of individuals, groups, or families. The Master of Science in Clinical Psychology program prepares students to meet the educational and practicum requirements necessary to become licensed as a psychological associate (LPA) in the state of Kentucky. For licensed psychological associates who are ready to apply for the next level of licensure in Kentucky, Brescia University offers the additional coursework students may need to become licensed as psychological practitioners.

From Fr. Larry Hostetter, President of Brescia

University, "From the founders of our University we have inherited an important ideal--"Read the Signs of the Times and Adapt." It is in that spirit that the creation of our new Masters in Clinical Psychology program takes root and from which it draws meaning for today. The fact that the faculty and staff who were involved in creating and implementing this new program were able to do so in the middle of a pandemic crisis says so much about the Brescia Difference and our deep desire to serve our students and the needs of our community."

Brescia University will offer on campus and online class options, workshops for major departments throughout the semesters, and individual tutoring to students for writing and research.

The University received a $10,000 grant from the Owensboro Health to begin program development.

Brescia University recently received reaffirmation in its accreditation by SACSCOC, with no additional findings, no recommendations, and no additional monitoring report required.

For additional application information, please contact Sagan Storm, Associate Director of Graduate Admissions, at 1-877-BRESCIA, 270-686-4240, or by e-mail at sagan.storm@brescia.edu.

2019 Homecoming

Brescia University is preparing to launch its last strategic plan before entering the University's second century. To honor this exciting moment in Brescia's history the theme Onward, Brescia! was selected. Not only does this saying echo the efforts of the last five years of the Gateway to Our Second Century campaign but also emphasizes the focus on the future. Onward, Brescia! comes straight from the alma mater; it reminds all who are a part of Brescia that we move forward together.

During the week of homecoming, students held a pep rally and cheered on the fall athletic teams, had a chance to hear from Dr. Dori Howard during the Return to the Arch Alumni Speaker Series, and had numerous student activities! The weekend events kicked off with the Distinguished Alumni Banquet, honoring Candance Castlen '93 Brake, Earl Hayden '69, and Greg Higdon '69. Alumni and students gathered together on Saturday morning for tailgating and chariot races, and the naming of Homecoming King and Queen! The alumni events for the day included the presentation of the alumni awards, the Fr. Charles Saffer Alumni Hall of Fame and the Outstanding Alumni Award, the annual alumni meeting, and campus tours. The Class of 1969 closed out the evening with a 50 year reunion.

Members of the 2019 Homecoming Court: Alicia Salazar, a senior from Elkton, KY was accompanied by Jacob Stanley, a senior from Owensboro, KY. Madeline Jones, a senior from Mt. Carmel, IL, was accompanied by Noah Cunningham, a junior from Madisonville, KY. Jayde Robinson, a senior from Elkton, KY, was accompanied by Dylan Beckham, a junior from Bowling Green, KY.

Students gather for a pep rally to kick off homecoming week. The pep rally included introducing the fall athletes, engaging students, activities, and announcing the Homecoming Court.

The Brescia Bearcat cheer team led the pep rally crowds in cheer and performed routines.

Dr. Dori Howard '06 was the 2019 Return to the Arch speaker. Dr. Howard spoke on the importance of pop culture in every day life. She is an Owensboro native, with a PhD in Popular Music Studies, and is a Popular Music Studies researcher, lecturer, and historian.

Fr. Larry Hostetter and the 2019 Distinguished Alumni Award recipients, Candance Castlen '93 Brake, Earl Hayden '69, and Greg Higdon '69, along with previous Distinguished Alumni Award recipients.

During the homecoming events on Saturday, students, alumni, faculty, and staff all participated in the annual chariot races.

Barney dances during a performance by the Brescia band.

The Class of 1969 gathered for their 50 year reunion. The former classmates came together to reminisce, share old photos and stories, and reconnect.

The Fr. Charles Saffer Alumni Hall of Fame Award was given to Scott Wilson '93, who was nominated by Kyle Robinson '19.

Tracy Naylor '01 was named the 2019 Outstanding Alumnus.

The new Homecoming King and Queen were crowned; Madeline Jones, a senior from Mt. Carmel, IL, and Noah Cunningham, a junior from Madisonville, KY.

King & Queen

Brescia University & COVID-19

As Brescia University geared up for the spring semester, the novel coronavirus, COVID-19 began to circle the globe. In an update on March 11, 2020, Fr. Larry Hostetter laid the groundwork on which the COVID-19 response plan would be built: “our response has been built on the foundation of ensuring the safety of our students, staff, and faculty while also minimizing the disruption to our students’ educational experience. Although there are currently no reported cases of COVID-19 in our immediate area, the probability that it will spread into our region is high. While we know we will be unable to eliminate all potential transmission of the virus, we can do our best to minimize it.” In this same update, it was announced that all on-ground classes would be transitioned to online. At the time of the announcement, the hope was to return back to campus on April 14th, however that did not prove possible and the semester ended with all classes meeting online.

As the experts and local authorities learned more about the potential effects of COVID-19, athletic competitions and enrollment events were cancelled, and study abroad trips were suspended through the summer. The residence halls and O’Bryan’s Dining Hall remained open, allowing students the ability to access resources as they remained on campus.

Soon after classes moved online, areas of common gathering on campus were closed, the gym, Bearcat Corner, and the Cat’s Den. From Fr. Larry’s update dated March 16, 2020: “the CDC issued a recommendation that all gatherings of 50 or more people be cancelled or postponed. The NAIA has now discontinued the spring athletic season to the entire semester. These measures were taken prevent the spread of the virus in places where students would gather. Faculty and staff were still working overtime in an effort to make the transition to online as seamless and possible.

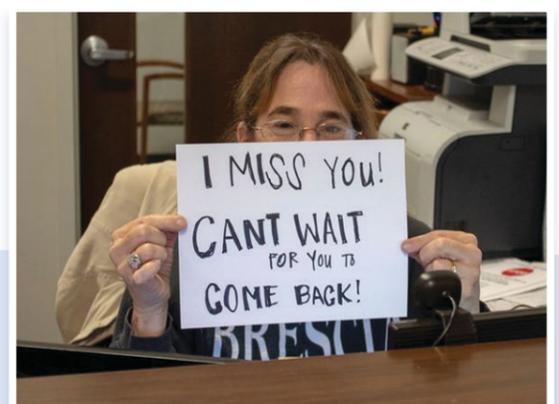

On March 23rd Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear issued an order for all nonessential retail business to close, restaurants were ordered to provide carry out services only. This Healthy at Home order prompted Brescia to announce that all nonessential workers were to stay home. With only a handful of essential faculty and staff members on campus, students were still able to connect with those at home through the use of TEAMS and Zoom. During this time, Brescia made sure that no

Cindy Haight, Student Accounts Clerk, used creative ways to still help students while practicing social distancing.

Barney visited O’Bryan’s Dining Hall to thank the Fresh Ideas staff for helping students transition and making sure that they had plenty of snacks to get them through the day.

Ellen Aud, Office of Student Affairs Administrative Assistant, spoke for all of Brescia. Our Bearcats were missed!

In March, Brescia was able to support our local firefighters with a donation of food supplies. This donation was made possible through our partnership with Specialty Foods Group and Fresh Ideas.

employees where without a job. A temporary employee leave policy was placed into effect so that income and a job to come back to weren't on the list of many worries that employee were navigating in these uncertain times.

From Fr. Larry's update dated April 8, 2020: "graduation is so important every year. It gives us a chance to support our seniors, in love, as they leave Brescia to begin the next chapter in their lives. Unfortunately, because of the pandemic we will be unable to have a "normal" graduation. [...]Let me add how proud I am of all of you as you do your best to continue and complete your education in very difficult circumstances. As Governor Beshear reminds us every day, this is not the ideal, but we need to do it to defeat the Coronavirus. What we are doing today by staying at home and keeping our distance from others will ensure that more people will survive the pandemic. Your sacrifice will save lives; it is an act of love for health care workers, for first responders, and for the most vulnerable of our community." A virtual graduation was held on May 2, 2020, and plans began for an in person graduation in December 2020.

Almost two months later employees were able to return to campus at a limited capacity. As part of the new policy, those with children or compromised family members were still able to work from home with no issues. Faculty and staff began working on the beginning plans for fall.

From Fr. Larry's reopening letter, "As in all things we fulfill our educational mission in the spirit of St. Angela Merici. I continue to be inspired by her use of the words from Daniel: "Those who teach others in the way of justice shall shine like stars for all eternity." In our tumultuous world, undergoing incredible social change, our students need us and we need them as they take their Brescia education to create a more just and compassionate world. Thank you for all you do as staff and faculty in bringing this vision to fulfillment."

Brescia University used social media to stay connected with the Brescia community. While some messages were more serious, light hearted activities were made for those at home to enjoy.

The first registration day was held on June 8th after the campus reopened. The Admissions staff ensured social distancing measures were followed and installed plexiglass shields at all stations to ensure even more safety for all involved.

BRESCIA UNIVERSITY'S ATHLETICS DEPARTMENT HONORED WITH TWO RIVER STATES CONFERENCE AWARDS

The Brescia Bearcat men's soccer team were committed to serving the community, by going to local schools, such as Sorgho Elementary, to show students some soccer skills, and participating the Martin Luther King Jr. Day march. These men have truly displayed the Brescia Difference.

Brescia University's Athletics Department was honored with two awards from the River States Conference. Dr. Daniel Kuthy was named the 2019-2020 River States Conference Faculty-Athletics Representative of the Year. The Brescia University men's soccer team was named the 2019-2020 River States Conference Men's Team of Character award, making them the inaugural recipients of the award.

Dr. Kuthy has been the faculty representative to athletics for two years. He is currently a professor of political science. The River States Conference Faculty-Athletics Representative of the Year award was established in the 2016-2017 season to recognize those faculty members within the conference that showcase outstanding service and dedication to their role in both the River States Conference and the NAIA. The main role of the faculty representative is to certify the eligibility of student-athletes to make sure that they can represent their school in competition.

The Brescia Bearcat men's soccer team won the first ever River States Conference Men's Team of Character. Throughout the academic year the men's team helped the community, and also maintained academic success. This was a goal set by head coach, Cameron Williams. The Bearcats raised money for area elementary programs through a fall festival, visited with local students to inspire them, marched in the Martin Luther King Jr. Day parade, participated in the NAIA's Live 5 program, and helped local teams with training programs. The student athletes were also involved with on campus organization and clubs, such as student government and the orientation leaders program. Academically, the men's soccer team made the honor roll, have 10 players have a GPA above 3.25, and the overall team GPA of 3.0.

Cameron Williams, men's soccer head coach, said, "When I came to Brescia University ten months ago, we made it a mission that this program would get out in the community, and make an impact. We want our players to understand that giving back is a part of our identity here at Brescia University and within this community. I am proud of these young men for getting out, and doing good deeds for others." He went on to say, "This award is very important to me considering where the program was just a year ago. We are doing great things here at Brescia, and I'm truly thankful that my players were recognized for their efforts off the field. For us, it is not about just being recognized, but about the impact we get to see we have in the community itself. I would like to thank Brian Thomas, my assistant, for putting the events together for us to take part in. He has been a tremendous asset to building our culture."

Our Brescia Bearcats took on the West Virginia University Institute of Technology Golden Bears on March 7th. During Game 1 our Bearcats went 5-0 followed by a 7-5 victory in Game 2. Game 3 was held March 8th where the Bearcats fell short to the Golden Bears 6-11. Pictured is Eric Silvy, a freshman from Hopkinsville, KY, who pitched the Game 1 shutout

BRESCIA UNIVERSITY AND OWENSBORO COMMUNITY AND TECHNICAL COLLEGE ANNOUNCE

NEW TRANSFER AGREEMENT

Brescia University and Owensboro Community and Technical College (OCTC) announced a new transfer agreement that will impact students in all OCTC technical program offerings. The announcement took place on Wednesday, October 30, 2019 at OCTC's Main Campus, located at 4800 New Hartford Road. Presidents, Fr. Larry Hostetter, of Brescia University, and Dr. Scott Williams, of OCTC were both present as the agreement became effective immediately.

Brescia University and OCTC have two longstanding articulation agreements regarding the Associate of Arts (AA) and Associate of Science (AS) degrees. Brescia University accepts the AA or AS degree from OCTC, and from any of the sixteen colleges that make up the Kentucky Community & Technical College System (KCTCS). Those degrees transfer with 60 to 67 credits and allow the transfer student a junior class standing at Brescia. Historically, more than 150 students have transferred to Brescia from OCTC since 2009.

The new articulation agreement opens this opportunity to all students in OCTC technical programs that offer the Associate in Applied Science (AAS) degree. Students will be able to transfer up to 77 credit hours to Brescia towards a bachelor's degree in Integrated Studies. Brescia University has created a personalized degree option for students as they continue their higher education journey. This new agreement expands the opportunity for transfer for students in 23 additional OCTC programs including: Business Administration Systems, Computer & Information Technologies, Engineering & Electronics Technology, and numerous Allied Health programs.

OCTC's Williams added, "We have a longstanding partnership with Brescia and are always looking for additional ways we can collaborate to benefit students and our community."

"Strengthening our collaboration with OCTC is an exciting and essential next step that will have a lasting impact on our community and surrounding areas. By streamlining the transfer process for students with any AA/

AS/AAS degree from OCTC, we are ensuring that their graduates can join the Brescia University family and have access to a path towards a 4-year degree. BUconnections, the new Brescia University transfer initiative, is about more than transferring academic credit, it is also about creating a holistic experience for the student with individualized attention in areas like advising, tutoring, and career services to support their path to success," stated Dr. Lauren McCrary, Brescia University's Chief of Staff.

"We are so pleased that our academic departments worked together to offer this opportunity for so many additional students. Many times our students are place bound by families and careers so offering them an affordable way to continue their education is extremely exciting" commented Dr. Veena Sallan, OCTC's Chief Academic Officer.

For more information on our transfer program, please visit brescia.edu/buconnections/.

University, Sr. Cheryl Clemons, and Vice President of Academic Affairs for OCTC, Dr. Veena Sallan, made the newest transfer agreement official. The agreement makes it easier for transfer students to continue their education after receiving a two-year degree from OCTC.

In Brescia University's School of Education Science Methods class this past semester, we began our focus on teaching the tools that our future science teachers need to incorporate the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS) STEM lessons within their future elementary and middle school classrooms.

We began the semester by implementing The National Science Teaching (NSTA) Learning Center. This online textbook platform also consists of NGSS learning resource tools for the preservice teacher. The NSTA Learning Center allows Brescia's Science Methods class to engage with over 200,000 science teaching professionals, gauges knowledge in 25 different content areas, enables exploration of thousands of resources through NGSS lesson plans, science articles, higher education textbook chapters, and other professional development books. Students can also attend online and in-person professional development, track professional learning goals and activity, and allow connection with over 15 topical forums. This learning tool is not only available to the student during the Science Methods semester, but is also available to them when fully engaged in the teaching profession.

During the past semester, Brescia School of Education preservice teachers were also given opportunities to be part of on-campus professional development. Professionals in STEM activities were invited to share their wealth of knowledge in their expert field.

Jamila Gadsden, Education Technology Consultant, with Texas Instruments, Inc., presented a hands-on STEM professional development workshop on TI technology as tools for inquiry and exploration. Through this workshop the students became familiar with the resources for STEM activities available through the TI Technology loan program for elementary and middle school STEM teaching.

Another STEM professional development that the Science Methods class explored in the Fall '19 semester was a computer-based, hands-on critical thinking workshop. F.L.E.E.T. Engineering with Michael Briscoe, Educator-in-Residence with the American Society of Naval Engineers of Alexandria, Virginia, presented the STEM engineering computer game (F.L.E.E.T). The workshop trained Brescia students in the program and in how to implement physical science and the engineering design process in real world learning situations. Brescia's School Of Education Department was also awarded a grant from the American Society of Naval Engineers (ASNE) to purchase technology for incorporating STEM computer-based activities.

BRESCIA UNIVERSITY DEDICATES SCIENCE BUILDING FOR ROY & VICTORIA ROBERTS

On October 25th, 2019, Brescia University officially renamed the science building to The Roy and Victoria Duffy Roberts Center for the Sciences. This naming is in honor of the 1.3 million dollar donation the late Roy Roberts, and his wife Victoria, made to the University in 2017.

In addition to the Roberts Center for the Sciences, the Roberts name will be featured on an executive boardroom/classroom and a 150-seat auditorium, both in the newly completed C.E. Field Center for Professional Studies. Roy and Victoria also generously supported the building of the fountain in the middle of the University's quad.

"I am deeply grateful to Roy and Vicki for their willingness to share in Brescia's future in such a generous way. The Roberts' are great examples of what is possible with hard work, intelligence, and drive. We are proud of Roy and Vicki for all they have accomplished and appreciate their incredible trust and investment in the Brescia mission," stated Father Larry Hostetter, President of Brescia University.

Charlie Kamuf, who served on the Brescia University Board of Directors alongside Mr. Roberts, stated "Roy had a great influence on Brescia. He was a visionary. When Roy spoke, you listened. He was always doing research – he would research other colleges and universities and see how they did things so we would have new, advanced ideas at Brescia. Roy was a remarkable man, he lifted us up."

"Growing up, my parents always put such an

I can still hear my father saying to myself – and my brothers and sisters and his grandchildren – you can either have four years of fun now and spend the rest of your life working hard, or you can work hard now for four years, earn your degree, and spend the rest of your life doing something that you love,” stated Troy Roberts, son of Roy and Victoria.

Mr. Roberts, an Owensboro native, is a 1968 graduate of then Brescia College, holding a B.S. in Mathematics with a minor in Physics. He earned his MBA from the Lacy School of Business at Butler University. He studied entrepreneurial professional development at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University, advanced banking at Princeton University and international banking at the Wharton School. He was the Chief Executive Officer and Owner of Alliance of Professionals & Consultants, Inc. (APC), headquartered in Raleigh, North Carolina. It is located in 44 states, Canada, and provides services worldwide.

Prior to building his own firm, he spent the entirety of his career with the IBM Corporation from 1968 until he took full retirement in 1993 to start APC. APC is a multiple INC 500 award winning business focused on professional services specialized in business, artificial intelligence, analytics, IT, engineering, and other highly skilled talent. APC offers a full suite of business solutions for Fortune 500 to mid-sized companies. It was selected by the US Department of Commerce as the National Professional Services Firm of the Year in 2016 and 2008. Mr. Roberts was a member of the Brescia University Board of Trustees. He was also the President of the American Indian Chamber of Commerce North Carolina, Treasurer of the Brownleigh Business Park Association, and was a past board member of the National Advisory

Honors College

BY: SARAH COX AND DR. CHRIS GRIFFIN,
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF HISTORY

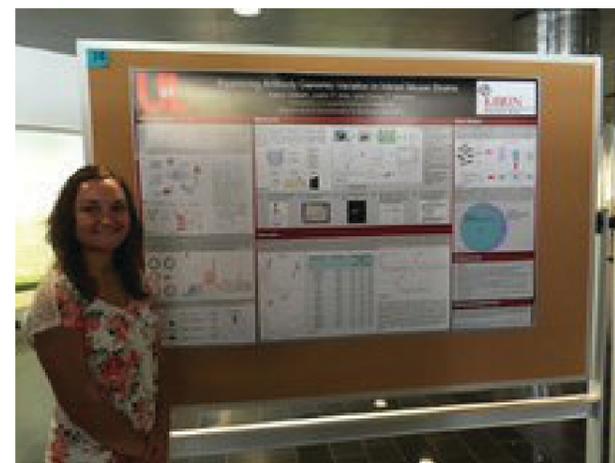

The 2019-2020 Honors College students had quite the eventful year from start to finish. Honors College faculty members Christopher Griffin, Daniel Kuthy, and Amanda Morris were quick to welcome incoming Honors students during Freshman orientation weekend in August. At this event, new Honor's College members are treated to a nice breakfast and are given the chance to meet some of their fellow classmates and professors. This year freshmen and sophomores were given the opportunity to take a class on Essential Physics, Race, Ethnicity, and Migration, or Democracy in America as their Honors level course.

In November, students in the freshmen level Essential Physics class traveled to Knoxville, Tennessee, to tour the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. While the Oak Ridge Laboratory is well known for its involvement in the Manhattan Project during WWII, the facility also focuses on scientific discovery, clean energy, and security technologies. Students were able to tour the laboratory and see many exhibits ranging from 3D printed cars to robotic programs on display. Over the course of this trip, students experienced the transfer of textbook knowledge to the real-world applications that occur every day.

The Race, Ethnicity, and Migration and the Democracy in America classes traveled to Atlanta, Georgia, where students visited the Carter Center, the Ghion Cultural Hall, and the King Center. The Carter Center presented students with information about President Jimmy Carter's life and accomplishments while advocating for democracy and the prevention of diseases. An exhibit that explored the movie industry in Georgia was also one of the temporary expositions on display during the trip. From there, students pushed their culinarily boundaries by trying food from other cultures while eating dinner at the Ghion Cultural Hall. Finally, students received a guided tour of Martin Luther King Jr.'s house at the King Center. Attendees were able to take a step back in time to view the historically preserved area surrounding his house and view the nearby buildings have been restored to resemble the grounds as Martin Luther King Jr. would have known them.

The Servant Leadership Seminar class, taught by Professor Emily DeMoor, chose the Daniel Pitino shelter to be the focal point of their service project this year. During October and November, students traveled to the Daniel Pitino shelter to help residents sharpen their resume writing skills and interview techniques. The students' project also involved many different events that were aided by members of the Brescia community. On October 25th, the seminar class hosted a blanket making night where students, faculty, staff, and community members were encouraged to help make no-sew blankets that would later be donated to those in need at the shelter. The volunteers created over ten blankets over the course of one evening. These blankets were donated alongside items collected by the Brescia volleyball team at their home game versus IU Kokomo. Volunteers from the servant leadership class also helped serve food at the shelter and shared a meal with many of the residents to learn more about the struggles they face in Owensboro. The spring semester kicked off with a pizza and movie night where students watched The Imitation Game, a movie about Alan Turing's solving of the Enigma and other Nazi codes during World War II. However, students' on-ground interaction with the Honors College program was cut short due to the Covid-19 pandemic. During this time frame, most students slowly filtered home while those who remained on campus isolated to help prevent spreading sickness to friends and classmates. Despite these challenges, the annual Celebration of Excellence sponsored by the Honors College took place digitally on April 19th. Thanks to the IT department, six rooms with rotating presentations were able to stream at once with minimal technical issues, effectively allowing students to present his or her hard work in a way that was safe for all students, judges, and viewers involved. Five winners were named across six different categories in the Celebration of Excellence: Kaylee Moore (Paper Presentation), Mazvita Ngorosha (PowerPoint/Media Presentation and Display of Work: Art, Music, Theater), James Vanmeter (PowerPoint/Media Presentation), Kassi Gilbert (Poster Presentation), and Gerrimy Kieffer (Master Level Presentation).

2020 Alumni Homecoming & Family Weekend

After careful thought and consideration, we've decided to take a different approach to 2020 Alumni Homecoming and Family Weekend this year. Out of abundance of caution, we felt it best to not host homecoming alumni events on campus this Fall.

Our favorite part of Homecoming is the stories that are shared, and the community that emerges from this weekend each year.

The Brescia Difference is a bond that connects all alumni, whether you graduated in 1968 and know the Cat's Den as the cafeteria, or graduated last year and enjoyed O'Bryan's

Café for lunch. If your diploma says Brescia College or Brescia University, whether you were taught by Sr. Marie Lechner or Sr. Mary Diane Taylor (or both!), Brescia stole your heart and still holds a piece of it. Since we won't be able together in person to share our updates and swap favorite stories from our time at Brescia, we thought we'd ask our alumni to share their stories through our new effort: Stories from Home. We hope you'll complete the recently mailed questionnaire from the alumni office asking you to share your favorite

Brescia story. Tell us a story about your favorite professor or how you met your significant other on campus. Tell us about that road trip with your teammates to an away game or how you and your roommate went on to be life long friends. Every Bearcat has a story. We want to hear yours.

For the latest news on Stories from Home, join 1,000+ Bearcats in our Brescia University Alumni Facebook group!
