residence life at brescia

Deciding to live on campus during your undergraduate years provides many wonderful and exciting opportunities. You will immediately become part of a community that includes a unique combination of local people and people from across the United States and many other countries. You will learn about customs and traditions that are perhaps unknown to you, and you will make friends who will last a lifetime. Being a resident of Brescia makes it possible for you to take full advantage of everything the University has to offer. Our residence halls are much more than places to sleep. They are living and learning communities designed to enhance your educational experience.

As an upper-class student, you can become a part of Residence Life as a Resident Assistant. If you are a sincere, dependable person who enjoys being a leader, who wants to serve as a positive role model and is interested in your fellow students, you are who we want to meet. Resident Assistants receive housing at reduced cost for the academic year.

Students learn leadership and responsibility by actively participating in student clubs and organizations. Here is just a sampling of what Brescia University offers:

Alpha Chi Honor Society
Brescia Social Work Association
Brescia University Right to Life
The Broadcast (Student Newspaper)

new students

Saffer and Merici Halls are the residences for new students. These fully furnished, air-conditioned halls provide the opportunity for new students to come together as a class, make friends and to become fully integrated into Brescia University. In addition, Saffer and Merici Halls are equipped with laundry facilities, cable television and computer connections. Living in Saffer and Merici Halls provides easy access to the “Cat’s Den,” a major programming area with a 50” flat screen television, a programming stage, surround sound, food vending, and soft drink and snack machines.

“Living on campus at Brescia allows me to be a member of a family that makes me feel welcome and makes the college experience more personal. I especially like the sense of community I feel and how I know almost every face on campus.”

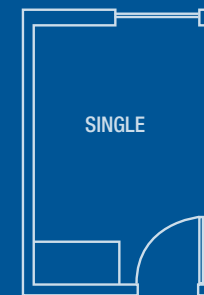

Lauren Varble
Class of 2011

A Look Inside:

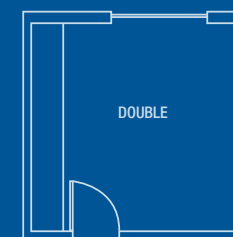

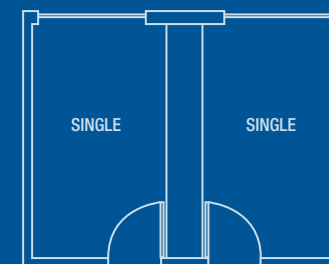

Saffer Hall

Single rooms are approximately 8' x 12' and include a twin bed, computer desk, closet/drawer storage and a window overlooking the campus. Each floor in Saffer offers two common restroom and shower facilities.

Merici Hall

Single rooms are approximately 8' x 12' and include a twin bed, computer desk, closet/drawer storage and a window overlooking the campus. Double rooms are approximately 13' x 13' and include two twin beds, two computer desks, closet/drawer storage for two and a window overlooking the campus. Each floor in Merici offers two common restroom and shower facilities.

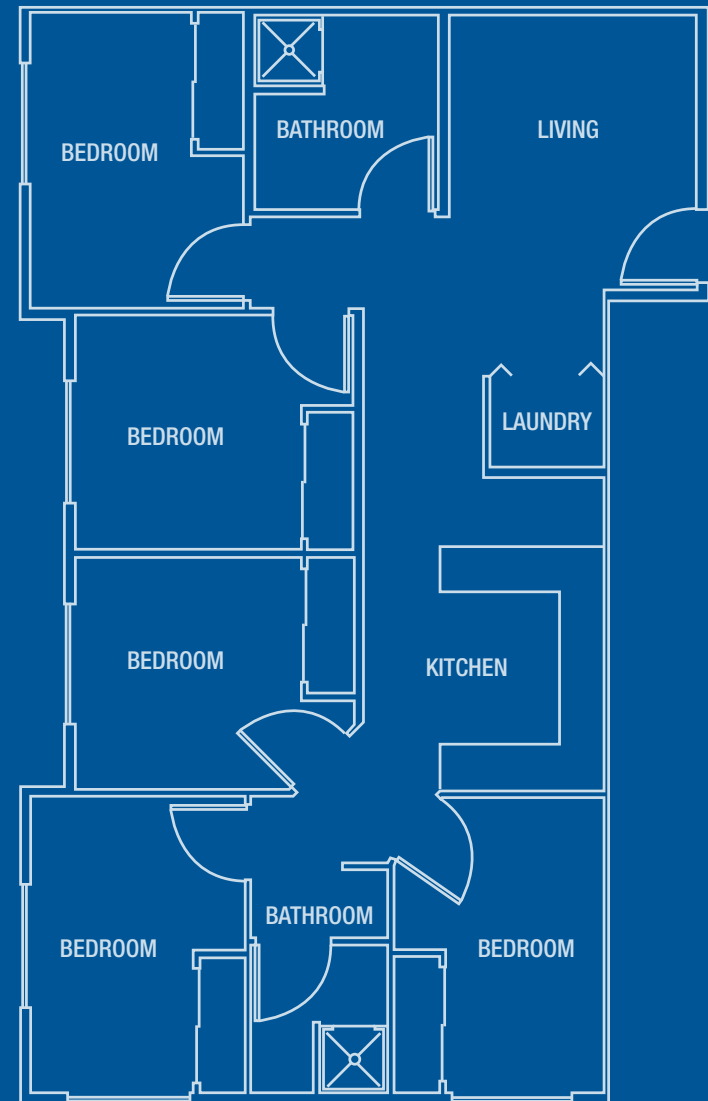

upperclass students

As upper-class students, residents may live in either Young or Trustees Hall, Brescia University's apartment complexes. Each building houses both men and women, separated by gender. The apartments are furnished, air-conditioned and provide a common living room, a fully equipped kitchen, a washer and dryer, two bathrooms, and five private bedrooms. As with all Brescia Residence Halls, Young and Trustees have cable television, phone, high speed and wireless internet.

Beginning in Fall 2009, a theme housing option is available to upper-class students. For example, for the 2009-2010 academic year, Brescia Psychology Club members will live in a theme house. Theme housing is limited and available to students who: Wish to live together around a common theme (academic, spiritual, common interest), who wish to build community around this theme and who are interested in sponsoring a minimum of three campus wide events and two community service projects each year. Theme housing requests are reviewed annually.

A Look Inside: Young & Trustee Halls

Brescia University is a Catholic, liberal arts institution founded in the Ursuline tradition of personal and social transformation through education.

Directed to academic and moral excellence in a student centered environment, Brescia offers undergraduate and graduate programs that serve students who seek success through rewarding careers and service to others.

Brescia University does not provide housing for married students or students with families. Brescia University is committed to the concept and practice of equal opportunity for all students and does not discriminate in its housing assignments.
