Campus Housing

making a difference ...
IN THE LIVES OF OUR STUDENTS, OUR COMMUNITY & OUR CHURCH
Residence Life at Brescia

Deciding to live on campus during your undergraduate years provides many wonderful and exciting opportunities. You will immediately become part of a community that includes a unique combination of local people and people from across the United States as well as other countries. You will learn about customs and traditions that are perhaps unknown to you, and you will make friends who will last a lifetime. Being a resident of Brescia makes it possible for you to take full advantage of everything the University has to offer. Our residence halls, apartments, and theme houses are much more than places to sleep. They are living and learning communities designed to enhance your educational experience.

As an upper-class student, you can become a part of Residence Life as a Resident Assistant. We look for sincere, dependable people who enjoy being leaders, who want to serve as positive role models and are interested in their fellow students. Resident Assistants receive housing at reduced cost for the academic year.
Students learn leadership and responsibility by actively participating in student clubs and organizations. Here is just a sampling of what Brescia University offers:

- Alpha Chi Honor Society
- Brescia Social Work Association
- The Broadcast (Student Newspaper)

New Students

Saffer and Merici Halls are the residences for new students. These fully furnished, air-conditioned halls provide the opportunity for new students to come together as a class, make friends and to become fully integrated into Brescia University. In addition, Saffer and Merici Halls are equipped with free laundry facilities, cable television and computer connections, and wireless internet. Living in Saffer and Merici Halls provides easy access to the “Cat’s Den,” a major programming area with a 50” flat screen television, a programming stage, surround sound, food vending, and soft drink and snack machines.

“Living on campus is a huge part of the college experience for me and has helped me excel both academically and socially. When else in life do you get to live with all your friends?”

Andrew Beams
Class of 2014

Upperclass Students

As upper-class students, residents may live in either Young or Trustees Hall, Brescia University’s apartment complexes. Each building houses both men and women, separated by gender in each apartment. The apartments are furnished, air-conditioned and provide a common living room, a full kitchen, a free washer and dryer, two bathrooms, and five private bedrooms. As with all Brescia Residence Halls, Young and Trustees have cable television and high speed and wireless internet.

Theme housing is available to upper-class students. For example, during the 2012-2013 academic year, Brescia Psychology Club members lived in a theme house. Theme housing is limited and available to students who: Wish to live together around a common theme (academic, spiritual, common interest), who wish to build community around this theme and who are interested in sponsoring a minimum of three campus wide events and two community service projects each year. Theme housing requests are reviewed annually.

Greenwell Hall: Houses up to 13 residents. Offers a full kitchen and living space as well as free washer and dryer and four bathrooms.

Philby Hall: Consists of two apartments each housing up to 6 students. Each apartment also has one bathroom, a kitchen, living room, and free washer and dryer.

Reisz Hall: Houses up to 11 residents. Offers a full kitchen and living space. Has free washer and dryer, and three bathrooms.

St. Joseph’s Hall: Houses up to 13 residents. Offers a full kitchen as well as living and dining space, free washer and dryer, two bathrooms and a large community meeting space.

Ursula Hall (Honors House): Houses up to 24 students. Offers two kitchens, living space, an enclosed front porch, and free washer and dryer.
